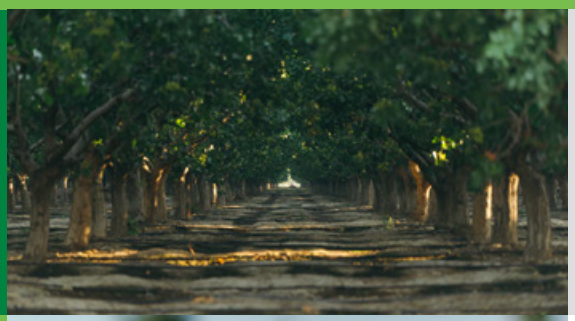
See your farm in a new light

A field-proven, simple, irrigation technology investment.

BETTER YIELDS | LABOR & ENERGY EFFICIENCY

Track

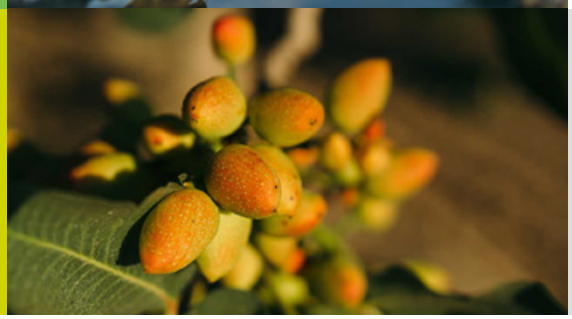


- No more clipboards or spreadsheets. Data is collected through sensors and meters at field equipment.
- Critical field and equipment information can be viewed real-time and tracked via a web interface on computer or mobile device.

Control

- Enable remote operation of your equipment via a computer, phone or tablet.
- Real-time feedback demonstrates equipment is operating within proper thresholds.

Schedule



- Collect data and control equipment simultaneously.
- Schedule Irrigation based on farmer preferences and executed automatically.

An irrigation management solution made for farmers by farmers.

Created by a fourth generation farm family, HotSpot is engineered to solve the problems farmers face real-time.

As farmers, we know it is the result of thousands of tasks we do throughout the year that makes harvest successful. In 2013, we decided it was time to adopt and improve irrigation practices that served us well for years. For seven years, we've developed and validated new tools and technologies that have produced tangible differences in crop yields and plant health.

Curious? Let us show you how.
